Kozier, Erb, Berman, Snyder, Abdalrahim, Abu-Moghli, Saleh:
Fundamentals of Nursing

Pearson understands that sometimes the best learning takes place when the learning tools used are culturally specific. This is why Pearson has developed the Arab World Publishing Program – a series of new and adapted textbooks that bring culturally relevant learning to students throughout the Arab region.

The Arab World Edition of Kozier & Erb's Fundamentals of Nursing, available in the Fall 2011, provides an introduction for nursing students throughout the Arab region. It provides valuable knowledge for future nurses wishing to work in the region where religious and cultural values need to be considered in patient treatment.

Key features of the book include:

- An opening case study that enables students to see how material in the chapter is used in real-life nursing situations.
- Critical Reflection Boxes at the end of each chapter that require students to apply what they have learnt.
- "Research Notes" that feature nursing studies conducted in the region
- Practice Tips boxes provide instant access summaries of clinical do's and don'ts
- Step by step skills boxes take students through each procedure and are visually represented by full colour photos and illustrations
- An English/Arabic Glossary.
- A "Test Your Knowledge" feature.

“ This book will provide real insights for nursing students in this part of the world. The fact that it has been written especially for students studying nursing in the Arab region will enhance the learning experiences of those students...the material will be better understood by readers because it holds more significance for them. ”

Maysoon Abdalrahim, Fathieh Abu-Moghli
and Mohammad Saleh
