

Hassan, Kayed and Oseni: Islamic Banking and Finance – Principles and Practices

Islamic Finance is experiencing growing importance in the global economy and this importance looks set to expand in coming years as demand for Sharia compliant products and services grows not only in the Islamic world, but also in the mainstream financial system. From internationally acclaimed Islamic Finance experts, Hassan, Kayed and Oseni, comes the very first textbook on Islamic Banking and Finance, providing an all-inclusive and accessible guide to Islamic Finance, and its application in the modern world.

Islamic Finance, Principles and Practices features comprehensive coverage of essential aspects of Islamic Finance, including:

- An Introduction to Islamic Banking and Finance
- Islamic Law of Contracts
- Financial Instruments of Islamic Banking and Finance
- Financial Accounting of Islamic Banking Products
- Corporate Governance of Islamic Financial Institutions
- Islamic Asset and Fund Management
- The Islamic Bond
- Islamic Takaful
- Islamic Microfinance
- Risk Management in Islamic Finance

This book is accompanied by a host of supplementary materials including PowerPoint slides with charts and diagrams from the book, instructor manual, and a test bank generator.

Islamic Finance, Principles and Practices comprises a host of features designed to assist the learning process for students, including:

- Interviews with practising professionals from around the world
- Case studies of financial institutions and their product offerings
- Review questions, and activities with accompanying answers for educators
- Compelling pedagogy including marginal hints and challenges, in-chapter cases, highlighted key terms, chapter summaries, and extended reading suggestions
- Consideration of the effects of the 2008 Global Financial Crisis on Islamic Finance
- Fold out cover flaps with phonetic Arabic terms and their English equivalent for quick reference

For more information about this book, please visit www.pearson.com/middleeast/awe